

DAKOTA DIVORCE DOES NOT HOLD.

DANCING MASTER'S FIRST WIFE ASKS SUPPORT.

Brooklyn Magistrate Rules that Desecration Was Not Proved and Committed Husband.

Magistrate Ingersoll, in the Morris Avenue Court, today upset the decision of a Dakota court which granted a divorce to George R. Koch, of No. 228 West Twenty-sixth street, Manhattan, a dancing master, from his first wife Florence A. Koch, of No. 326 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, by committing him to the Kings County Penitentiary in default of bond for her support. Koch's second wife, whom he married after obtaining the Dakota decree, was not present when her husband was arraigned.

Beyond admitting that his second wife, as was the first, was a pupil of his at his dancing academy on Fifth avenue, near Ninth street, before she married him, he refused to talk of her antecedents or disclose her maiden name.

The first wife, who figures as the complainant in the case, is the daughter of Daniel J. Lowrey, for twenty-five years an inspector in the Customs Service, and a well-known citizen of Brooklyn.

She married Koch ten years ago, and the marriage at St. Augustine's Church was a poor event in Brooklyn. In his opinion, Magistrate Ingersoll held that the Dakota divorce was null and void. The ground for the divorce, as alleged, that of desertion, Magistrate Ingersoll said, was not well founded. Koch himself had gone to Dakota in August of 1895 and left his wife of his own volition, the Magistrate held.

ASKED FOR MANY; CHOSE ONLY FEW.

2,000 RESPONDED TO SNOW CONTRACTOR'S ADVT.

Manilla Employed Only 300, and Those Left Off Made a Protest.

Those who were invited to work on the streets, from Thirteenth street to Sixth avenue and Broadway to the River, were disappointed. They had expected to be employed, but only 300 were hired. The rest were told that an account of a scarcity of work had been made.

Mr. Manilla has a radio office at No. 151 West Thirteenth street, with Superintendent L. F. Decker in charge. Close to 2,000 men gathered there looking for work. About 300 were hired. The rest were told that an account of a scarcity of work had been made.

Charles Shales, John Brown and William Stevens organized a protesting delegation, but they were refused to listen to them. Then they marched through the crowded streets to the Evening World office, where they gathered in the street with Sharpley and his companions registered their protest. They said that they thought the city ought to see that every man was furnished with employment in an emergency of this character. After giving three cheers for The Evening World, the assembly dispersed. There was no police interference.

EXASPERATING DELAYS HAMPER THE WORK OF SNOW-REMOVING.

Cupidity of Owners of Carts Is Aroused, Consequently the City Must Suffer.

Despite the appearance of a blizzard in the streets, the work of snow removal is moving slowly. The prime reason for this is the great quantity of carts, which, although they are not allowed to be used in the snow, are being used to pick up the snow on a wheel and throw it into a cart. Another reason is the scarcity of dumps, and, finally, all the natural desire of the owners of carts to make as much out of the snow as they can.

The dump question is a serious one. With 100 carts at work it is impossible to accommodate them all at the various points along the river where the snow is thrown. As a result, the work of removal is being hampered.

At police reports from the dumps it is almost impossible to get carts, which are being used to pick up the snow, to be removed. Drivers of carts are being fined for using them in the snow, and as long as there are no dumps, the work of removal is being hampered.

At the same time, the work of removal is being hampered by the fact that the carts are being used to pick up the snow and throw it into a cart. This is a very slow process, and it is impossible to get the work done in a reasonable time.

These questions and answers opened Gov. Odell's hearing on the charges brought against Sheriff Charles Guden relative to a distribution of the fees and patronage of the Sheriff's office.

"I did not," "I have not received from the Sheriff of Kings County any fees or patronage that it is unlawful to receive," "I have not."

These questions and answers opened Gov. Odell's hearing on the charges brought against Sheriff Charles Guden relative to a distribution of the fees and patronage of the Sheriff's office.

The questions were asked by Judge Samuel J. Westcott. When they were answered, Westcott said: "You are asked to answer the question, 'Did you receive from the Sheriff of Kings County any fees or patronage that it is unlawful to receive?'"

STORY OF POKER IN BIG SLANDER SUIT.

LOWENTHAL SAID STRASBURGER CHEATED.

Plaintiff's Relative Testifies that He Lost Good Business Connection Through the Talk.

Part XIII. of the Supreme Court, where the $200,000 slander suit of Mayer Strasburger against Henry S. Lowenthal is in progress, was crowded today with club members and men about town.

Although the suit grew out of talk following poker games last testimony about poker was eliminated at this stage of the trial.

Sol M. Rosenthal, a silk salesman, testified that he heard Mr. Lowenthal tell about cheating.

Henry Newman, a dry goods importer at No. 577 Broadway, said he was in front of his store when Lowenthal came along, and said:

"What?" "Mr. Strasburger was detected cheating at cards."

"I told him I was greatly surprised," said the witness.

"Did you ever have trouble growing out of a slander?" asked the lawyer, and the witness said he did, but he was not allowed to tell the story.

Another witness said Lowenthal told him a man whose name was given had been robbed of $2,000. The witness said he didn't believe the story.

Robert F. Elias didn't believe the story either, and told his informant that it was impossible.

Moses Tannenbaum, sole owner of S. Tannenbaum & Son, testified that "Bub" Strasburger was a relative as well as an employee. That at 20 per cent, he made $2,000 a year as chief salesman, and $2,500 another year. His contract expired last July and Tannenbaum had intended to take Bub into the firm with a one-third interest, but broke his agreement to do this when he heard the story about cards.

AGED FOUNDER OF TIFFANY'S DEAD.

PNEUMONIA KILLS HEAD OF FAMOUS JEWELRY HOUSE.

Charles L. Tiffany, Born Ninety Years Ago in Connecticut, Was in Business Here 65 Years.

Four days after celebrating his ninety-fourth birthday Charles L. Tiffany, senior member of the jewelry firm in Union Square, died this morning at his home, No. 23 Madison avenue. He was stricken with pneumonia two days ago.

Mr. Tiffany had been confined to his home in consequence of a severe fall Oct. 4, which resulted in a serious injury to his hip. The debilitation caused by his enforced idleness made him easy prey for the ailment that attacked his lungs, although he appeared to be hale and hearty on his birthday.

The Union Square store was closed when word of the death of Mr. Tiffany was received and the flag was hung at half-mast.

Charles L. Tiffany was born in Killing, Conn. At the age of twenty-five he came to this city, and in partnership with J. H. Young established a jewelry store in Chambers street, out of which grew the great jewelry concern of today. Up to last October Mr. Tiffany retained the active direction of the business.

Mr. Tiffany was a member of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, the Delaware and Hudson Canal, the New York and New Jersey Electric Light and Power Company, the New York and New Jersey Gas Company, the New York and New Jersey Water Company, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, the New York and New Jersey Fire Insurance Company, the New York and New Jersey Life Insurance
